Course Format

There are two parts to the format a) the taught element b) post-course assignment.

Two possible formats for the taught element:

A. 8-day Intensive programme at Accent International

This format enables teachers to complete the taught element of the course in one working week. The course runs from Saturday morning to the following Saturday lunchtime at Accent International's training centre in Devon. It is extremely intensive but the variety and pacing of the training modules will enable participants to enjoy themselves as well as learn.

B. Two-week programme at Accent International

This format runs from Monday morning in week 1 to Friday afternoon in week 2. It gives more space for consideration and revision in the evenings and during the middle weekend (when there is no training) and includes a specific session at the end of each week for review and discussion.

Training institutions, schools and universities

Accent International is used to leading seminars and training programmes all over the world. All of the above formats are available for delivery as in-house training programmes for staff members as part of professional development programmes or as preparation for moving into Business English teaching.

One-to-one training

Some teachers, especially freelancers, may need this training and qualification to enable them to work with certain clients, achieve internal promotion or apply for a new job. It may not be possible to attend a group course at fixed dates. It is therefore possible to take this course on a one-to-one basis at your own convenience. The increase in price can easily be justified by the increased opportunities which may open up.
